

Population Statistics for Calary and Derrylossary Parishes, 1841-91

These were taken from published census reports. Note that parishes and baronies (By.) were used in 1841 but electoral divisions were used thereafter. The reports for 1821 and 1831 only give parish totals and there were some minor boundary changes in the meantime, i.e. Raheen. transferred to Derrylossary, was originally in Glendalough Parish which appears to reflect medieval church property boundaries; there was medieval mill in Raheen.

Sudden increases in populations usually indicate migration of industrial and agricultural workers on schemes (Glendalough Mines and Roundwood Reservoir) and estate developments. This can explain the occasional significant disparity of male and female ratios where there are more males than females but the reason for more females than males is often unknown.
